SEDALIA GOSSIP.

—Any number of farmers in town yesterday.

—Nothing of special interest to report from the railroad shops.

—The drain from the new engine house basement was completed yesterday.

—The nails in the sidewalks are very exasperating to the wearers of their shoes.

—Isn't it a wonder accidents are so few on the streets intersected by the railway tracks.

—The Salvation hall was filled to overflowing at the all over shop meeting last night.

—There are quite a good few of dogs yet in Sedalia. Many of them could be spared.

—Claude, the three-year-old son of George Pope, died at 3 p. m. yesterday, and will be buried this afternoon.

—The city engineer, in setting his grading stones, finds it necessary to open a good many choked up sewers.

—The variety of vegetables is becoming more noticeable as the spring months pass along toward summer days.

—The chances are that the Masons will have to use the Sedalia park in order to accommodate their many visitors.

—A number of German immigrants arrived in the city yesterday, en route to Benton county.

—Boquets of magnolias are getting to be the usual caper with travelers reaching Sedalia from Texas.

—Yesterday was the end of a month, and business men and others were engaged in making up their accounts.

—There is a bit of sidewalk on Main street, not a thousand miles from Ohio, which could be greatly improved.

—Cloudy again yesterday after breakfast. A little wetness mixed with dryness, occasionally, doesn't harm anyone.

—For a prairie city, Sedalia is well shaded along its residence streets. The trees are rapidly getting into full leaf.

—Lamine street, near the railroad crossing, is being filled with earth and so getting into better shape for the macadamizers.

—Get in on the ground floor in real estate, 117 Ohio street, Sedalia Land & Investment Company.

—The ubiquitous dun will be around to-morrow. He generally calls on his friends at least once a month, if not oftener.

—The docket of the circuit court covers a period of five weeks. The court opens to-morrow morning in regular spring term.

—E. A. Fraiser and wife yesterday sold to James Randolph, five acres on Booneville street, just east of the city, the consideration being stated as $1,300.

—The Natural History society, yesterday, received from the department at Washington, the latest reports on the mineral resource of the United States.

—The deed of the city to the water works plant and land, mentioned in the real estate transfers in another place, was filed for record at ten minutes to four o'clock yesterday afternoon.

—The new stable being erected at the corner of Second and Kentucky streets, will be sheathed with corrugated iron. The roof will also be of some fire-proof material.

—Yesterday was the anniversary of the death of Sarah Josepha Hale, in 1879. The older readers of the BAZOON will remember her as a writer of popular fiction for many years.

—About twenty masons enjoyed a mid-night feast on the adjournment of lodge last night. The spread was laid at Kaiser's hotel and was as usual unsurpassable in every respect.

—The corpse of Mrs. Annie J. Dow, of Marquette, Kansas, came in night before last, in charge of her husband, bound east for burial. The lady, who was 40 years of age, died of typhoid malaria.

—The worst and bier of bork were plentiful yesterday in the Queen City. How the slate over there on Osage street will show up for Monday's court, may be seen to-morrow afternoon. The rampant goat is a hard hitter to some imbibers.

—Miss Laura Ledgerwood will be married this morning at 10 o'clock, at her mother's residence on East Ninth street, to Mr. John Lydon, conductor on the "Frisco," and residing at Springfield. Rev. Mr. Pugh, of the Methodist church, south, will marry the parties.

—The calaboose slate at midnight had six names on it. Two represented drunks, one a trespasser, and three for late hours under suspicious circumstances. One of the last mentioned had a counterfeit dollar among the contents of his pocket.

—Mr. W. D. Overacker, a car inspector of the Missouri Pacific railway company, whose head was badly cut last Wednesday by a lump of coal falling on him at the coal chute, in East Sedalia, was very much improved yesterday, and was able to be out on the street.

—The alarm of fire at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, which called out the East Sedalia engine and hose cart was occasioned by a small blaze in an outhouse on the premises of Mrs. Rowley, northwest corner Fifth and Marvin streets. Some member of the family had emptied a pan of live ashes and a high wind blowing at the time, fanned them into a fire, which looked equally for a minute or so. The blaze was put out before the fire department's services were without license. They paid up and left as mad as Turks.

NOBODY KNOWS BUT MOTHER.

Nobody knows of the work it takes
To keep the home together;
Nobody knows of the steps it takes,
Nobody knows—but mother.

Nobody listens to childish woes,
Which k'ases only smother;
Nobody's pained by naughty blows,
Nobody—but mother.

Nobody knows of the sleepless care
Bestowed upon baby brother;
Nobody knows of the tender prayer,
Nobody—but mother.

Nobody knows of the lessons taught
Of loving one another;
Nobody knows of the patience sought,
Nobody—but mother.

Nobody knows of the anxious fears,
Lest darlings may not weather
The storm of life in after years,
Nobody knows—but mother.

Nobody kneels at the throne above
To thank the Heavenly Father,
For the sweetest gift—a mother's love;
Nobody can—but mother.

—H. C. DODGE.

SUNDAY'S SUPPLIES.

What Your Dinner Will Cost You
To-day, if You Live Well.

Prices of meats vary so little in Sedalia that for the purposes of this article, they are not included. The housekeeper who went to the market yesterday, to secure the material for today's dinner, discovered that vegetables and fruits cost money. This will be seen in the retail figures which ruled yesterday for the articles specified, as given herewith.

Spinach and mustard greens are going out of date, and sell at ten cents a gallon. Radishes, whether home-grown or brought from St. Louis, are sold, three bunches for a dime.

New cabbage are worth from five to six cents a pound. They come from Louisiana and California; not many from the latter place. New peas from Mississippi are held at forty cents a gallon. Three bunches asparagus cost ten cents. Soup bunches, which are brought from St. Louis, retail at two for 15 cents or four for a quarter. Four bunches of pie plant bring a dime, only, and cheap at half the money. String beans, from the south, of course, cost 65 cents a gallon. The large butter lettuce fetches fifteen cents for a couple of heads, while the home-grown costs a nickel a head. Onions are cheap; the new Bermuda bulbs, however, are worth $1.25 a peck.

New potatoes are fifty cents a peck; and the old variety is twice that much a bushel. Cucumbers and cauliflower are too high for this market, yet.

In the way of fruits, bananas are retailed at 25 or 30 cents a dozen. Strawberries, the crescent seedling, from Benton, Arkansas, bring from 25 to 30 cents a quart box. Not many of these excellent berries go to make a box full.

As for fish and fowl, spring chickens of small dimensions retail for 25 and 30 cents, according to size; teal duck are worth $2 per dozen. River fish, such as buffalo, cat and croppie, retail for 10 cents a pound for the first, 12 1/2 for the cat, and 15 cents for the croppie. Lake fish all through sell for 15 cents. Red snapper is also held at this price. Salt water haddock bring 12 1/2 cents a pound.

The market is pretty liberally supplied with some of the aforementioned edibles and is scant on others. The prices given are those of a leading dealer in table supplies.

Horsford's Acid Phosphate
INCOMPARABLE IN SICK HEADACHE.

DR. FRED HORNOR, JR., Salem, Va., says: "To relieve the indigestion and so-called sick headache, and mental depression incident to certain stages of rheumatism, it is incomparable."

Licensed To Wed.

John Lydon, of Springfield, Mo., to Laura Ledgerwood, of Sedalia.

Cook's Last Lecture.

Joseph Cook's lecture Friday evening at the Cumberland Presbyterian church was listened to by a large audience, his subject being "Ultimate America." The speaker was attentively listened to, and his remarks were highly enjoyed by all. Mr. Cook is one of the most popular lecturers on the platform, and his ideas are always expressed in the choicest language. His treatment of difficult subjects is quite original, but he is always intelligible and pleasing to his audience. The two lectures were a treat to cultivated Sedalians, as was testified by their crowding the church on both evenings.

The Knights Templars.

The ritual for the Knights Templar religious service for ascension day, May 19th, has just been completed, and is not only a beautiful memento of the art preservation and of the occasion, but shows that the services will be one of the most beautiful and impressive ever held, and in keeping with the grand principals of the order and the solemn occasion which calls them forth.

A Strange Case.

The Clinton Advocate contains the following account of a singular and sad case of disease: "Yesterday afternoon Bud O'Neal, of Mayesburg, accompanied by Dr. Miller, came to this city bringing with him his two year old babe, a bright, intelligent looking child, to have the doctors examine its throat for stricture. He went to Dr. Britts, who, upon examination, called in several of his professional colleagues. It was attempted to insert a small probe into the oesophagus, when it was found to be entirely closed. In last September the child drank concentrated lye and by the strongest endeavors the life of the child was saved, but the membrane of the mouth and throat was eaten away by the potash, and since that time the child has been able to swallow only milk or gruel. Last Monday was the first time it became wholly unable to swallow, and since that time its parents have been obliged to see their little idol go without nourishment while they have plenty of the good things of life.

Upon consultation, the doctors thought it a hopeless case, and though their hearts were touched by the sad conclusion, they were forced to tell the sad father that they believed nothing could be done for his child's relief.

It is probable that the stricture extends to the stomach, and if so, the operation of splitting the gullet and inserting a tube would take the life of the little sufferer. Nourishment might be given by inserting a tube into the stomach, but the operation would be a dangerous one, and besides being a constant care, the life of the child would be continually imperiled.

Mr. O'Neal expected to take the child to Kansas City to-day to consult with men eminent in the surgical profession regarding the chances of his child's life, but carrying small hopes and a heavy heart.

The case is truly a sad one. The babe is the only child of the fond parents and if they are compelled to see the little one starve to death, their heart's agonies will be untold.

Police Court.

There was an even half dozen delinquents before his honor the recorder, yesterday morning.

James Hanley, a country youth of perhaps twenty years, was arrested for a plain drunk, but when he sobered up this morning he was found to be insane, and the charge against him was dismissed. He insisted, however, on making the court a speech, and it required the united efforts of the court and the police to prevent him from giving a specimen of his eloquence.

David Marks was found drunk in a box car. He was let off with a $6 fine, $5 for the drunk and one for trespass. He claimed that he was a railroad employe and was hunting a conductor to take him back to Pleasant Hill. Just how he expected to find a conductor in a box car he did not explain.

Perry Morton, a black, villainous looking coon, was arraigned for disturbing the peace. He showed a great deal of impudence toward the court and claimed to be a bruiser from away back, but finally admitted that the extent of his valorous deeds was to attack women, and that he had on this occasion mashed his own wife's mouth. Notwithstanding which he was given but five days on the rock pile. It is to be hoped when he gets out that some muscular wench will take him across her knee and give him such a dressing as will teach him that even a woman is able to fight a little.

Wm. Crowley and H. J. Nichols, charged with trespass, were fined five dollars each. Crowley being required to pay an additional penalty for costs of $1.

A commitment was ordered to issue for Wm. Craig on account of his failure to pay a fine and court adjourned.

THE FARM GARDEN.

How It Can Be Made a Source of Both Pleasure and Profit.

Many persons attach no value to the labor of garden work, especially when it affords them a mode of healthy outdoor exercise, but whether a garden be only a very small plot or a larger area, the advantages derived depend upon the skill, care and labor of the person who has charge of it. It is true that, while those who cultivate hundreds of acres of "truck" can produce vegetables much more cheaply than those whose plots are too small to permit of the use of improved implements, the gardener who grows his vegetables for home use secures a freshness and quality that can not be obtained with vegetables that are purchased. There is quite a difference between the pulling of a ripe tomato from the vine and placing it on the table and the selection of one from a basket that has been shipped over a distance of rail, and which may have been taken from the vines two or three days before.

But there is also another advantage in family gardening other than the freshness and quality of the small fruits and vegetables grown, which is the choice of varieties. Two or three kinds of squash, several of peas, as well as different varieties of beans, berries and even of melons, if space allow of their growth, will permit of catering to the preferences of every member of the family. With the selection of varieties come proper care and judicious working with the hoe, and it is in this manner that the younger members are taught their first lesson in practical agriculture. It is said that a boy who works on a farm where his duties call for milking the cows, plowing the fields and cultivating the crops, does not have that fondness for farm life that is peculiar to the one who is given a small garden and early taught to take an interest in it.

It is often the case that ladies are benefited by light work in the garden, especially if they are interested in observing the different stages of the growth of plants, and when the farmer's wife, and the children also, become interested the cost of the labor may be really considered as nothing, while the saving of doctor's bills and the enjoyment of garden luxuries more than compensate for the care bestowed. If every farmer would have a garden and take an interest in it, it would greatly add to the comfort and enjoyment of farming, as well as prove very profitable. —Philadelphia Record.
